They Kill Muslims and Ally with Idolaters

Despite all the events that took place during the recent years, some people are still unaware of the reality of the animosity between the Islamic State and al-Qaida organization. Some of those ignorant people still believe in the lies of the bad ʻulama, stating that the Islamic State kills Muslims and does not disturb idolaters. They invented these lies to justify describing the Islamic State unjustly as Khawarij and therefore, justify fighting it and shedding the blood of its soldiers.

This animosity is not only based on irregularities in Shari'ah policies implemented by the leaders of al-Qaida and its branches, and is also not limited to perversions in 'aqidah issues, where they consider as Muslims those who commit clear shirk, such as the worshippers of dead people, and those who rule by other than what Allah has revealed. This has led them to becoming enemies of whoever considers such mushrikin to be kuffar, and deeming them extremists and Khawarij. The followers of al-Qaida organization, with all its branches, are deeply involved in clear loyalty to sects of the murtaddin and they ally with them against Muslims among the Islamic State soldiers.

Currently, we see them killing Islamic State soldiers wherever they can and treat them like murtaddin; by killing their wounded, legitimizing the theft and destruction of their wealth, and throwing their corpses in deserts and roads. Meanwhile, different sects of murtaddin, whom they themselves admit to be kufr, are living amongst them freely and honorably. Moreover, they ally with them and support them against Muslims.

We've seen this clearly, at the beginning, with their branch in Sham led by the murtadd Julani and some of his murtadd brothers among the leaderships of al-Qaida coming from Khurasan. They allied with the murtaddin of the military councils and the followers of the General Staff, among the factions whose kufr they recognize, and fought by their side against the Islamic State in the eastern area of Sham, and likewise, in the northern countryside of Halab. They fought against Muslims and allied with idolaters.

Then, we saw the followers of al-Qaida in Libya, under the leadership of al-Qaida in the Maghrib, fighting against the Khilafah soldiers, allying with the murtaddin and declaring their loyalty to the government of riddah in Tripoli. Therefore, they also fought against Muslims and allied with idolaters.

Likewise, we have seen the ongoing fighting of their branch in Yemen against our mujahid brothers in Qayfa and other places, side by side with those associated with the Popular Committees (run by the government of riddah in Adan). Moreover, they took the leaders of these committees as their allies, whom they support in their war against Muslims, after they handed over the cities to the mushrikin to be ruled by kufr in return for avoiding to fight them. Therefore, they also fought against Muslims and allied with idolaters.

And similarly, we have seen their brothers the Taliban in Khurasan, under whose banner all al-Qaida branches have joinedw, while fighting the muwahiddin in Zabul and other places in support of the Rafida, who were hurt by the mujahidin. This took place after they declared their loyalty to them and to other mushrik sects in Khurasan in the name of nationality and they befriended the tawaghit and murtaddin outside it in the name of global peace. Therefore, they also fought against Muslims and allied with idolaters.

The remaining of their branches and soldiers are allies to these murtadd organizations in Sham, Yemen, Khurasan, Somalia, Libya and others. They become close to them and see themselves together as one sect, which they befriend and hate for its sake. They aid them in every battle and fight against the Khilafah soldiers in an attempt to prevent them from controlling the land and establishing the Shari'ah of Allah after they lost it and handed it over voluntarily to the murtaddin.

All the spurious accusations they cast on the Islamic State soldiers are, in fact, true in regards to al-Qaida, for they were not satisfied with fighting Muslims and allying with idolaters only, but they added to that by allying with them in the religion and supporting them in their war against Muslims.

As for the Islamic State, may Allah support it with His victory, it kills among Muslims only those whom Allah permitted to shed their blood, including whoever deserve the implementation of Hadd, spread corruption in the land, or abandon the Muslim community and want to scatter its ranks after Allah united it under the leadership of one man. The Islamic State have never, on any given day, abandoned fighting the idolaters, rather, it is well known by all humans, Muslims and kuffar, all praise is due to Allah, that it fights kuffar and mushrikin in their entirety as they fight it in their entirety. The forming of the nations of kufr of the biggest alliance in history to fight it is one of the examples of that.

Hence, the Islamic State fighting some so-called Muslims is to implement the ruling of Allah on them. Likewise, its fighting the nations of shirk in their entirety is to obey the orders of Allah to fight them. As for the murtaddin of al-Qaida and their brothers, they unlawfully and unjustly fight Muslims, Islamic State soldiers and their supporters, and They unjustly ally with the idolaters among the followers of the democratic religion and the Sahawat murtaddin until they become with them fighting in one trench.
